The Union Press has a rambling article about State rights, wherein the editor succeeds in showing that the subject is very lucomprehensible to the wrler. Will the editor please tell his readers wherein it is provided that a State can forfeit any right reserved to it, or not granted to the general government, and not prohibited to the States, by the crimes of Governors or Legislators, or any nucorities or minorities? And wherein it is provided that the powers forfeited fall to ie United States, so that the latter beomes a trustee, holding forfeited powers, and authorized to exercise them? How invested with such powers? The writer in the Press points out what e considers great difficulties, in admitting these rights of States; but no unatter what the difficulties are, the Press & Co. have no right to remove the difficulties by usurpations of power. There is no greater crime than usurpations of power. Session is no worse; and the excuse, that

But the rights of the States rest on the same basis—the ratitication by the people.

The people gave some powers to the Federal Government, and reserved the rest to the States. What they have given is vested and hullienable; except as the people have provided in their written Constitution. Iu so doing, they are in a worse attitude To usurp powers by a perversion of the forms of Government, is a worse crime than an open defiance of those forms. When men engage in revolution, they must make sure of two points: first, they must have a good reason for it; and,

We are against this revolution. We see

The Press & Co. think they have a good reason to extirpate these reserved, ights of States; and so far they have suceeded. . If they get through satisfactorlly, and maintain good government with the rights of States annihilated, they will be written down patriots; but it is a mean pretense in them to affect to be maintaining the Government, when, in fact, they is

A singing-club serenaded the Emperor in the evening. He talked freely with the members, and in reply to a question at the African Church, and, having set fire to the unsuspicious country gentlemen around him, and stirred them up to a blaze of patriotic pyrotechnics, he gracefully disappeared from the scene and left them to bear with such composure as they might the startling explosion that he knew was at hand.

Arenenberg: The aspect of the place has changed little since 1820. In 1817 Queen Hortense purchased Arenenberg, in the canton of Thurgan. The house had two stories, with three windows in front, of the most simple covertuetten resisted white windows. three windows in front, of the nost simple construction, painted white, with gray Venitian blinds. The Queen land a dining-room built on the left, on which was a terrace standing on columns and bordered by a light bainstrade. Groups of flowers, with poplars and weeping-willows, covered the caplanade. The part of the garden looking on the lake, representing the steepest declivity, was planted with vines. At some distance from the dwelling-house there was a court surrounded by buildings' somewhat leftier, with an exterior gallery on the first floor came the government of the United States cession is no worse; and the excuse, that a party deems it necessary, is only the old excuse of tyrants. The walls are almost perpendicular, running down into the water and leaving no beach. The depth of the water is unknown, and its sarface is smooth and unruffled, as it lies so far below the surface of the mountain that the alr currents do not affect it. Its length estimated at twelve miles, and width at ten. There is an island in its center, having trees upon it. No living man ever has, and probably never will, be able to reach the water's edge. It lies silent, still and mysterious in the bosom of the "everlasting bills," like a huge The visiting party fired a ritle sever times into the water, at an angle of 4

"We can fancy him sitting in his comfortable quarters in Havana, with that stereotyped smile on his month, calmily reading the accounts of the misery and ruin which he, as much as any other man, has become ruin which he, as much as any other man, has brought upon the Sonth. None of his friends need fear that he will die of remorse or go and hang himself. He would hold himfelf in thorough contempt if he could lose one night's steep on account of the miseries of all the rest of the human race. He looks upon the South as he would look upon any ether client whom he had led into an expensive and disastrous lawsuit. The whole matter is purely professional. If he has got his fee from his elient he feels that there is no occasion for self-reproach. A comfortable dinner every day, and a tussel with the tiger every night, will consolet hat retired states and from all the sorrows of mankind.

After killing Husk, Hardin came to own and surrendered himself to the sheriff. He had an examination on the next and was discharged; the charge of any and was inscanged; the charge of inurder not being sustained.

The circumstances as elicited by the evi-dence were substantially as follows:
Husk went to Hardin's house to per-suade the son of the latter to accompany him to Lewisport, there to accompany him to Lewisport, there to participate in dissipation and debauchery, as on former occasions. The young man being under age, Mr. and Mrs. Hardin objected to his going, whereupon Husk drew an army revolver and said: "If the boy wants to go be shall." Hardin then fired at Husk with a Colt's ways revolver, the latter

"Do you think that twelve ignorant ju-rors are better able to decide upon a man's guilt or innocence than twelve educated military officers."

Of course not! There never should have been any trial by jury. It is all a mistake. So are civil courts and judges. "Twelve educated military officers," should dispense "nithary justice" everywhere and to everybody. How could we have been so stupid as not to see it from the first!

THE STATE FAIR. Third Day's Exhibition. Fine Show and Large Attendance.

List of Premiums Awarded in Floral Hall. Grand Tournament.

The Exhibition To-day.

Yesterday was another most favorable lay for the State Fair, the sun shiuing rth in all his majestic beauty in the ng, though about 10 o'clock it clouded mound we were visited by a refreshing diower which cooled the atmosphere and laid the dust, making it more pleasant than before the shower occurred. Early in the merning thousands of ladies and themen began to wend their way tovards the fair grounds, and long before noon the amphitheater was filled with the beauty and fashion of the State. As the fair progresses the excitement inreases; and each day the andience is larger than on the previous day.

As we have before remarked, these fairs are of great benefit to agricultural and nechanical interests and stock raising in the State, and we hope that they will re seive the hearty approval and support of our citizens generally. If the proper interest is manifested during the remainde of the week, the fair will yet prove a most

The exhibition vesterday was undoubt telly the finest vet, the entries for the different rings being large, and the contes for the premiums close and exciting. The excitement was intense, as the different ses were driven around the ring, whirling past the immense crowd seated round the amphith ater. The stock ex hibited, as we restricted, included a numher of the finest harness horses to be found the State. In the ring for stallions, four years old and upwards, there were ten entries. Each horse was most beautiful and so thoroughly trained that the judges had great diviently in arriving at proper conclusion. At last the blue ribbon was awarded to L. L. Dorsey, of Jufferson, and the pick to Capt. A. Pennibgion, of Jefferson. The ring for stallions, two years old and under three, was also a mest beautiful one, there being five noble steeds in the contest.

In the ring for one-year olds and under two, there were some very fine colts. Three noble looking representatives of noble stock entered for the premium. After this ring a recess was taken for dinner. During the recess for dinner we took a stroll through the promenade, extending from the front entrance to the ladies' dressing room, situated in the back of the grounds. Along this promenade, on either side, are extensive trees, winten cast a shale all around and make it a most pleasant place. On each side of the walk, which is covered with tan bark the green lawn stretches out, and when were set, while others sprend their tablecloths out on the grass. The hospitality shown here fully sustains the enviable tion of Kentucky for hespitality. None who are in attendance at the fair are allowed to leave without being provided with all the inner man requires. A stroll the ugh this lawn at dinner time is well worth a trip to the grounds.

The afternoon's entertainment was commenced with an exhibition of the stock of Mr. L. L. Dorsey. The ring consisted of old Goldlust, 11 years of age, who is the first horse at the are of three years that made a mile in this State in three minutes; and ten of his colts, three fiveyear of Is - Rosa Gold lust, Rolla Golddust and Willie Gelilust. The best of these horses made a mile in 2:34 without being pushed. Two four-year olds-Lydia Golddust and W. Woodruff; two twoyear olds, and two untimed four-year obls. Rise Golddust, one of the liveyear olds mentioned above, when two years of age made a mile in 2:5712. The ring was one of the finest that we have over seen, if not the finest ever assembled In this country. Mr. Dorsey offers to anaich the get of Golddust, that is the colts that were exhibited, against the get of any other horse in the world for races of one, two, three and four mile heats, to come off in the spring. Jefferson county has the finest stock in the world, and if any doubt it, they can accept the challenge of Mr. Horsey.

The ring for aged mares brought together eight beautiful auimals, who were driven around the ring for some time to give the judges an opportunity to witness their performances. They were all excellently trained, and showed to great advantage. The premium, in the end, was awarded to Captain George W. Womaek, of Jefferson county, who handled one of the finest auimals that has been on exhibition this week. She is named Highland Mary.

The two-year olds made a very good show, there being four entries. Both ribbons were carried off by the Golddust

The exhibition yesterday was the fines ever seen. In the ring for aged geldings there was a collision, in which the wheel of one of the buggies was broken. The entries for the roadster ring were: Edward Everett, Wild Irishman, Willie iolddust and W. Woodruff, by Golddust. Edward Everett was awarded the prealum and Wild Irishman the certificate. Owing to the lateness of the hour the xtra ring advertised to come off was con inued until to-day.

FLORAL HALL. After the exhibition in the amphithe ter we again pald a visit to Floral Hall, where the committees were still engaged in examining the different articles entered for exhibition and awarding the premiums. Iu our stroll through the ball vesterday we noticed a very nice quilt pieced by Miss Julia C. Grinstead, who is but 5 years of age. The sewing is well lone, and it is put together with taste and kill. There are several very fine specimens of painting, both in water and oil olors, which deserve a more extended otice than our space will admit of this morning. One of the silk quilts which ook a premium is one of the most beautiful pieces of work that we have ever seen, having an excellent likeness of George Washington, "the father of his country, worked in the center of it.

This hall is daily visited by nearly all who attend the fair, and none can but nelp admiring the fine fruit, vegetables, edte work, etc., which is on exhibition The entire examination of the goods in this hall has not yet been concluded, but we understand that the different commitist of premiums will be ninde known. Daring Actempt at Highway Rob-bery at the Fair Grounds.

One of the most daring attempts at robbery occurred at the fair grounds yesterday. John Cawein, one of the partners who has charge of the booths and diningroom, was walking around the grounds with a box in his hand which contained the receipts of the day, when he was accosted by G. H. Kenuer, who snatched the box and drew a revolver at the time. threatening to kill Mr. Cawein if he should give the alarm, Mr. Coweln, however, gave an alarm, which drew Officer Joel Lambourne to the scene, who arrested Kenner and turned him over to the guard, sion. Trial of Magrader, the Guerrilla. The case of Wun, Mugruder was before the military commission vesterday in the military prison, and continued. Scarcely anything of importance transpired, save the examination of a number of witnesses. Magruder is still contined to his cot, suffering from the wound he received at the time of his capture, back of Brandenburg, Ky. He is charged with having commitsixteen murders, three rapes and shooting with intent to kill. Mr. W. C Whitaker, formerly of the Federal army, is defending the prisoner ln the case be-
